What the CDC Wants You to Know Once You're Fully Vaccinated

- The CDC suggests that if you're fully vaccinated against COVID-19, you can safely resume pre-pandemic activities, according to the CDC.
- Plus, fully-vaccinated people can resume activities without wearing a mask or physically distancing, except where required by federal, state, local, tribal, or territorial laws, rules, and regulations, including local business and workplace guidance.
- If you haven't been vaccinated yet, follow this link to find a vaccine.

Even though you may be fully vaccinated, it's still a best practice to choose safer activities. For more information on what activities are safe, click the button below to visit the CDC's website. Recommendations have been updated as of May 28, 2021.
